Dear friend,

I warmly greet you all from our Californian Velehrad at the beginning of July.

Vacations are starting, some of you will be traveling to the Czech Republic or somewhere else. If you are going on a trip, I wish you safe travels, lots of rest for body and soul, and a happy return home.

I wish everyone a wonderful experience of this month of July and the whole summer. I look forward, God willing, to all further personal meetings in your cities or here in Velehrad.

Yours Fr.Libor

So don't be afraid to get along with him either! Find a quiet place. Let yourself be filled with the rhythm of nature, the rhythm of the rain, the rhythm of the bubbling stream, the rhythm of the growing flowers, the rhythm of the wandering sun. Relax and listen to the sounds and silence of nature. Observe the branches of a tree, marvel at the shine of dewdrops, or the simplicity of a houseplant... Stay calm. Then start thanking God in your heart for everything you have discovered. In this way, in nature, you will experience the closeness of the One who created all this. Only in His presence can you really rest and recover.

Find a quiet place. You can walk, sit, or even lie down. Approach God in silence, relax and speak in the depths of your being: "Look, God, here I am." You can speak to him like this at any time and anywhere...

Then shut up and listen to him in peace. When you feel you are in the interior of your being ready to further communicate with God, then pray: "My good Father, I am your child. You love me and you are all-powerful." Let these sentences ring in your heart before you realize that in God is your true security, which is also the source of your recovery. Don't be afraid to communicate with God like this every day, or rather several times a day.

(According Tomislav Ivančič)

MAN, GOD AND REST

Jesus says: "Come to me, all you who are weary and burdened, and I will give you rest. (Mt 11,28)

Follow Jesus even in rest

Then, because so many people were coming and going that they did not even have a chance to eat, he said to them, "Come with me by yourselves to a quiet place and get some rest. (Mk 6:31), they thus receive a new mission to a certain extent: not to work constantly in the vineyard of the Lord, but to rest and recover, spend holidays with him. They are to follow Jesus not only in his activity, but also in his rest.

With these words, Jesus is also aiming at us. We need breaks to breathe, time for silence and peace when we are only with him. He calls us every day to a quiet moment of prayer, every week to a day of rest, and now and then to a longer time when we are alone with him. We are supposed to detach ourselves from our daily activities to be able to take a look to your daily life with distance and new eyes. If we follow Jesus even into solitude and rest, it will carry us through all the critical events of life.

(From the book of W. Stinissen)

A few tips on how to spend your free time and how to recover:

For a person to really recover in general, it is good to give rest not only to the body, but also to allow recovery and peace and soul. The body rests well and recovers in nature. The psyche will rest in an environment where we are accepted and loved, and through forgiveness.

The soul rests in prayer - in the encounter with God, who is the source and the originator of all good things. He alone is the giver of the peace that the world cannot give... Jesus himself often withdrew to a "deserted place" in nature to recuperate.

Rest and recreation can be:

- an opportunity to gain strength for body and spirit
- time for loved ones: children, partners, aging parents, abandoned friends
- a great opportunity to find out that the world will neither collapse nor stop without us
- an opportunity to admire God's work
- an opportunity to reflect on yourself
- an opportunity to look at yourself and life from a different perspective
- an opportunity to (re)evaluate life paths taken
- a period when we have enough time for God

GOOD GOD I'm happy I'm off. Time for myself, time for you. I expect a lot - sun, clouds, wind, water, distances, friends. Open my eyes to the beauty of your world, give me an attentive ear to the voice of creation. Thank you for those days off. Give me the strength to be kinder.

I will meet people, loved ones and strangers, I thank you and I ask you to be able to listen to them, to get closer to them and their world to understand them, because I have time. Give me words and actions that give joy. May your love be with me on all my journeys. Let me return home rich with experience and new strength.

(Pereira, Myšlenky a modlitby)

A friend is a person who knows the melody of your heart - who sings it to you when you forget it.
